Before calling Telisys, Perry, Johnson et al. was unable to get reliable service for their old Panasonic phone system. We were able to keep it going until it became clear to the customer that a system replacement was in order. After receiving bids from Telisys and others, Telisys came out the winner with our ESI CS200. We later found out that, like many others, the customer was surprised that our bid was much lower than the competition.
